

COOKIES POLICY

1. What are cookies?

This website uses cookies and/or similar technologies that store and retrieve information when you browse. In general, these technologies may serve a range of different purposes, such as, for example, recognising you as a user, obtaining information about your browsing habits, or customising the way in which content is displayed. The specific purposes for which we use these technologies are described below.

2. For what purposes does this website use cookies?

This website uses cookies for a series of purposes, including:

- Analysis: these are either processed by us or by third parties. They allow us to quantify the number of users and therefore carry out the measurement and statistical analysis of users' use of the service offered. For this, your browsing on our website is analysed in order to improve the range of products and services that we offer.
- Behavioural advertising: these are either processed by us or by third parties. They allow us to analyse your online browsing habits in order to show advertising related to your browsing profile.

3. Who uses the cookies on this website?

The users of cookies, the type of cookies used and other details is indicated below:

Entity Google Analytics

Type Third party

Purpose To collect information about user browsing on the site in order to identify the origin of visits and other similar statistical data. Google Analytics also uses these cookies to show advertising related to your browsing profile.

on the content that is relevant to each user, to improve campaign-performance reports and avoid displaying adverts that users have already seen

More information <http://www.google.com/intl/es/privacy.html>

Entity YouTube

Type Third party

Purpose These cookies allow YouTube to track the videos visited and embedded in the website, as well as to measure video views by users and record likes or shares. Google also uses these cookies to recommend videos and show advertising related to your browsing profile.

More information <http://www.google.com/intl/es/privacy.html>

Entity Facebook

Type Third party

Purpose These cookies allow Facebook to offer its products and helps the entity to understand the information it receives from you, including data regarding your use of other websites and apps, regardless of whether or not you are registered or logged in to the platform. It also allows for the collection of analytical visitor information in order to establish advertising criteria based on real-time bids from third-party advertisers.

More information <https://www.facebook.com/policies/cookies/>

Note: 'First-party' cookies are used only by the owner of this website and 'Third-party' cookies are also used by the provider of the service detailed in the table above. You can find out about transfers to third countries that, where appropriate, may be carried out by the third parties identified in this cookie policy by consulting their corresponding policies (see the links provided in the 'More information' section of the table above).

4. How do I disable or delete these cookies?

You can choose to allow or block cookies, or delete your browsing data (including cookies) from your chosen browser. To do so, please consult the options and instructions provided by your browser. Please note that if you accept third-party cookies, you must delete them through your browser settings. Below, you will find links explaining how to manage cookies for the most common browsers:

5. Google Analytics opt-out browser add-on

If you wish to reject Google Analytics analytical cookies in all browsers, to avoid having your information sent to Google Analytics, you can download an add-on for this purpose from the following link: <https://tools.google.com/dlpage/gaoptout>.

6. Exercising your rights

You can find out more and exercise your rights regarding data protection by consulting this website's privacy policy.

7. List of cookies

A cookie is a small piece of data (text file) that a website, when visited by a user, asks your browser to store on the device in order to record information about you, such as your language preference or log-in details. These cookies are established by us, and are referred to as first-party cookies. We also use third-party cookies (which are cookies from a domain other than the website visited) for our advertising and marketing studies. More specifically, we use cookies and other tracking technologies for the following purposes:

8. Functionality cookies

CONVERSO

These cookies allow the site to offer greater functionality and personalisation. They may be established by us or by third parties whose services we have added to our pages. If you do not authorise these cookies, some of our services may not function correctly.
